The initial number of the Blount county Democrat, published at Maryville, has reached our exchange table. It is a very neatly printed and well gotten up five column paper, Demoeratic in politics, and will no doubt Rev. J. B. Ford, after which a collecreceive a good support by that party.

The East Tennessee Sunday School Convention meets to-morrow in Maryville and will continue in session two days. A special train is to be run from modation of delegates and visitors.

The employes of the Knoxville Iron | week, May 22nd, 23rd and 24th Company are making quite extensive arrangements for their regular annual pienie, which will occur on Saturday, 24th inst., at which time they will go on a railroad excursion to Maryville. It will be a plessant occasion, all may rest assured.

We are requested to state through our columns that the new parsonage at Salem Church, south of the river, on the Little River Circuit, M. E Church, was built by the people of the whole Circuit, and not by the people of Salem Church, only, as was made to appear in a recent issue of our paper.

The Jonesboro Times learns that Mr. Enos Kincheloe met with the misfortune of having his saw-mill burned on Monday of last week, through the carelessness of a little colored boy, who was carrying some fire out to the meadow, and in passing through the saw mill, dropped some of the fire on some shavings, which set the mill on fire; and the flames spread so fast that nothing could be done to check their progress.

According to the Chattanooga Times, Mrs. D. M. Key and her two eldest daughters, Misses Emma and Katie, have gone from Chattanooga, and will spend the summer mouths at the old Lepoir homestead near the Station, the younger members of the family being already there with Mrs. Key's mother. Probably the Postmaster submitted, sentenced to six months in General's family will not return to county work house. Chattanooga until they come back with the Judge to remain permanently.
